AINT LIFE FUNNY

Burgess Danner, of the Ap-staff sat across the following which I submit to you:

Man comes into the world without his clothes and leaves it against his will.

During his stay on earth his time is spent in one continuous round of contradictions and misunderstandings.

In his boyhood he is an angel.
In his boyhood he is a devil.

In his manhood he is everything from a lizard up.

If he raises a family he is a chump.

If he doesn't raise a family, he is too selfish.

If he raises a check, he is a crook.

If he is a poor man, he is a bad manager and has no sense.

If he is rich — he is smart but diseased.

If he is not in politics, he is an undesirable citizen.

If he is in politics, he is a graft-

If he goes to church, he is a hypocrite.

If he doesn't he's a sinner.

If he gives for charity, it is for show.

If he doesn't, he's a tightwad.
When he first comes into the world, everyone wants to kiss him.

Before he leaves the world everyone wants to kick him.

If he goes to hell, there was great future before him.

If he lives to a ripe old age, he is in the way.

The pulpit committee of the Palm Beach County Baptist church announced this week the engagement of Rev. J. R. Heller of De-Land as the new pastor. The church has been without a pastor
for several weeks since Rev. S.
B. Jordan left for Hialeah where he took up a new pastorate. Rev.
Heller, a native of Virginia, is coming from the University of DeLand and will come to Canal Point on July 23.

Special Show To Boost The Sale Of "E" War Bonds

By Paul Rardin

Malcolm Millar, Chairman of the "5th War Loan Drive" in Pahokee-Canal Point, has just received confirmation from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures
Corporation that they are shipping him the film "I Do It",
for a special "E" Bond Premiere to be held at the Prince Theatre
Pahokee, at 11:00 P. M., Saturday,
July 15.

To the fact that the country as a whole is lagging in the sale of "E" bonds the above film company stipulates that the film
will be of any denomination

— $25 to $1000 and it may be purchased from the Bank, Post Office or any other issuing agent

in Pahokee-Canal Point, and that the proceeds will be turned over to this announcement will be honored with a hand for the regular rehearsals.

Rev. T. A. Ferguson, pastor of the Pahokee Methodist Church, returned home Sunday to convalesce from a recent operation performed at Good Samaritan Hospital, West Palm Beach.

According to the pastor, the Band Beginners Being Sought

Robert O. Lampi, Pahokee band director, is seeking band beginners for the fall. He will have his first meeting with them.
Instruction is being given for those who are just taking up band music and Director Lampi believes that this group should be able to make the most of the band by the middle of the fall ball season.

There are still a couple of school instruments available for interested youngsters, Mr. Lampi said.

Rehearsals will start on August 7 with rehearsals for the foot ball season. A new lot of music has been ordered and will be hand for the regular rehearsals.

Mr. Lampi was very fortunate in securing this, he said,
as it will be a new instrument
and will not be played again.

The cast of "I Do It" consists of Red Skelton, Eleanor Powell, Patricia Dane, Richard Attenborough, and his Orchestra, and the picture, is rated as the best and most spectacular show Skelton
has ever done in pictures.

According to the poster, the pants producer borrows rich customers' clothes and follows a stage star about because he has fallen in love with her. The girl is in love with a man, but she is too afraid to marry the pants owner of whose livelihood she is unaware, when the playboy is seen with another girl. After the wedding her producer breaks up the romance by telling the star, "I'm sorry, it will ruin your career. Mistaken for an officer by gangsters, the youth is kidnapped and taken aboard a yacht, where he rescues his bride.
He finds that she really is in love with him.

When first released and played in New York this picture enjoyed one of the longest runs of any picture in recent years. Critics commented the last was enthusiastic in their review of the stars and the picture, and the picture is still showing in America without any loss of popularity.

It is reported that with a picture of this size he expects to sell every seat at the theater on the night of the premiere.

The guest was being shown to his bed in the heated room by the host's sinister-looking maid.

"By the way," asked the guest, "has anything unusual ever happened in connection with this room?"

"Not for over 50 years, sir."

"And what happened then?"

"A gentleman who spent the night here appeared at breakfast the next morning."

OURS TOO

An indignant woman called the city editor recently, demanding, "Why weren't the pictures of today's draft group in the paper?" "It might have been because our photographer was one of them," sighed the editor.—Illinois State Journal.

CALIFORNIA SLACKERS

California, a state which has won many high distinction among the states has achieved a distinction which is not high, very low, and must be an awful blow to the "native sons."

State service headquarters at Washington report that California's only two more draft-dodgers than any other state, but even worse—it has one-sixth of the total of 30,000 listed against all forty-eight states!

A sorrowful distinction, indeed. Perhaps the fluctuation of population due to war industry employment accounts for a major part of this bad record.—Bradenton Herald.

Strato-Refrigerator Planes Are Seen As Answer For Quick Transportation Of Fruits & Vegetables Grown in State

The post-war strato-refrigerator flying garden-fresh Florida vegetables, fruit and sea food delicacies to northern tables in five hours will have both a domestic and international significance, W. B. Haggerty, prominent Tampa businessman and inventor of an aerial refrigeration process, declares.

While the flying refrigerators are landing South Florida produce from community packing houses alongside rural airports, longer range planes carrying highly perishable South American fruit, flowers and northern markets will be refueling at Miami and Tampa airports for the last leg of their cargo schedule. Air-conscious South Americans are sending word to Haggerty.

After studying specifications submitted by Haggerty for control of air cargo temperatures without heavy refrigeration machinery, Gleim Martin's engineers wrote their unequivocal conclusion: "It is possible to build the airplane possessing satisfactory flying qualities and it can be operated on a sound basis."

Haggerty, in his cold storage plant in Tampa and in private plane flights, has tested his airflow control process, by which flight at 12,000 feet will maintain a uniform cargo temperature of 30 degrees, while a flight level of 20,000 feet, 28,000 feet, will quickly change the problem. His calculations, based on 12 years of practical experience in the perishable food and refrigeration business, have been backed up by the Bureau of Entomology, Department of Agriculture, and a staff of scientists at Wayne University, Detroit, Mich., who report that the first products for which aerial refrigeration will be most profitable are strawberries, tomatoes and rare tropical fruits and sea food delicacies, in all of which Florida abounds.

The time-lag element of risk in present means of transportation is a major price depressant, and its elimination through five to 10 hour delivery from field and grove to market will bring about a remarkable reduction in cost of air freight. Haggerty declines to say which communities which do not have cold storage or quick-freezing plants, but virtually every Florida community has an airport at which aerial refrigeration can be used to pick up a load of fresh fruit or vegetables, which can be prepared for shipping at a community packing house alongside the runway.

Given this access to quick shipping and quick-freezing, the small farmer would not, in years of heavy production, have to dump his fresh fruit or phone under his vegetable bunches of "seasonal market collapses."

Moreover, these food merchandisers talk of spoilage can be cut in half or more by reason of air transportation and refrigeration. It would be logical to consider that as a credit against the transportation costs. Where spoilage runs 10 to 20 per cent of the total shipper's cost, a 50 per cent reduction in present operations, the credit would be substantial." Another superior factor in aerial transportation is the fact that it makes possible greater distribution. A plane winging toward a certain market can be diverted to a stronger market simply by radiowing the pilot to change his course.

It is true that age-old distribution methods of the perishable fruit business—several markets joined, while strong demands in other cities go unsatisfied—can and will be licked, meaning millions of dollars of increased income to farmers, shippers and retailers.

of Telephone Equipment on War Fronts

Tons and tons of telephone cables, wire, switchboards, telephone instruments and hundreds of other types of telephone equipment have been shipped to England for use by our armies in their advances through Europe. More shiploads are following to meet the growing demands of the war fronts, not only in Europe but in the Pacific, as well.

All out production of telephone equipment for our armed forces takes virtually all available manufacturing facilities and manpower, and reserve supplies are about exhausted.

The shortage of supplies for home use has made it impossible for us to keep up with civilian orders for service. That is why we, over here, must continue to do the best we can with the limited amount of equipment we have on hand.

We kindly regret that more and more people are having to go to telephone service, due to the increasing war demands. But there must be no waiting for the men who fight our battles.

Your continued patience and cooperation in these difficult times is greatly appreciated.

"Judge, I've had a lot of calls for that book you took out last week . . . Tell the Boys Back Home how they did like it?"

"Fine, Sarah, fine . . . it's the kind of book I like to get hold of . . . I enjoyed every word of it. Wish I could have been along with the author myself . . . actually living with the men right on the fighting fronts. He got mighty close to them and they certainly opened up their minds and their hearts to him."

"There were lots of new things in the book I hadn't seen in any other reports from前线 writers. But there was one question the men asked that I didn't know the answer to and that is, I have heard the author say time and again in the stories that man's heart goes to put prohibition on us soldiers . . . and without getting our vote?"

"I noticed that, too, Judge, and I think the least we can do for those fighting men who are doing so much for us is to respect their wishes on that subject."

Cinematic Chatter
By Malcolm Miller

Right at the outset I am going to tell you there will those among the audience this coming Sunday-Monday who will not relish "Knickerbocker Holiday," which is slated for a two day run on these days. But I believe you are going to be thoroughly entertained.

There will be those among you who don't like Nelson Eddy. This dislike will date back from the time when Nelson and Miss McDonald appeared in a musical comedy show on the screen, singing "red full of fine singing, and most of the singing was done by this pair. It was a bad move on the part of the producers to play them up so many pictures, with so much singing and so much similarity.

B. T. Nelson has Constance Dowling as a leading lady in "Knickerbocker Holiday," and she is a good actress, but she has been such a sensation on Broadway in the last few years.

Story is based on the stage play of the same title, which is a story of love in the Puritan era. New York was a dictatorial government raised the ire of the people. It tells, in song and comedy with dashes of drama how his regime was overcome by the colonists under the leadership of Nelson Eddy, whose dramatic interest is Miss Dowling.

Tuesday-Wednesday brings a story that will raise your blood pressure somewhat under the title "I Escaped From The Germans."

Story is listed as the true narrative of a fighting Yank who brought it home with him, and stated that the blood spattered on the floor of the Rats, as it leads from country to country—yes, even to the U. S. A.

Dean Jagger and John Carradine are said to turn in one of the best performances ever seen in a picture this year. It is a picture that will give you one of the most exciting evenings you have had in a long time.

Thursday-Friday brings another humdinger Western "cow opere" up to the title "Down Over the Great Divide." This one is an all star cast and tells a story of a girl who comes from the usual out-of-the-way shows. You and you will enjoy every moment of it.

Now that the "5th War Bond Drive" is over I hope you will still continue to invest your dollars in war bonds. It is a business to invest at least 10 per cent of your earnings in war bonds, so we can bring them back soon and in health.

See you at the movies—Mal.
